

REPUBLICANS CARRY COUNTY; DEMOCRATS WIN BOROUGH

RETURNS FROM ALL DISTRICTS INDICATE GOP COUNTY SWEEP

Avalanche of Votes Believed to Represent 90%
Of Registrants

"MAJORITIES, 12,000"
In 111 Districts Curtin Has
27,365 Votes; Bowen
15,017

(Special to Courier)
DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 9—Virtually complete returns in Bucks County showed that the Republican ticket had swept into office by majorities of 12,000 or better.

An avalanche of votes, which represented possibly 90 per cent of the qualified registrants in the county, swamped many election boards.

The vote for district attorney showed the general position of the two parties.

District Attorney, all districts counted, Willard S. Curtin, Republican, 27,365; James C. Bowen,
Democrat, 15,017. Majority for Curtin, 12,348.

The other candidates, including the Republican candidate for re-election to the Pennsylvania Superior Court, Judge William E. Hirt, had similar leads over their Democratic rivals.

The incomplete returns on the soldiers' bonus showed it ahead in 100 districts by these totals: yes, 17,938; no, 11,903.

The second amendment, concerning tax - exempting redeveloped land, was trailing 4265 to 8468 on incomplete returns and the absentee voting amendment, permitting hospitalized war veterans to cast their ballots, was winning 11,529 to 3253.

Elected to county office by the Republican victory, in addition to District Attorney Curtin, were the following:

For sheriff, Harry H. Ross, of Churchville; recorder of deeds, J.
Hart Jamison, of Ivyland; prothonotary, Joseph A. Keating, of Pennell; county controller, Howard K. Krupp, of Chalfont; jury commissioner, J. Robert Hendricks, of Bristol.

and a social hour will follow the meeting. The public is invited to attend.

The speaker for the day will be ments were sent to orphanages, homes and hospitals.

be interested in and all should participate in its good work. More dian establishment known as the Half Moon, between Pleasant Valley and Richlandtown, and if apprehended, will be given a hearing on charges

Peace Levi D. Stever, Springtown, before whom the charges were

According to the accounts Michael Salvaggio, the proprietor, was in bed at eight o'clock when Kemmerer is alleged to have put in his appearance at the hotel, where
Mrs. Salvaggio was tending bar.

Kemmerer is said to have accused her of offending him in the presence of friends several nights earlier. Mrs. Salvaggio told police Kem-

LARGEST PIPE-LINE TO PASS THRU BUCKS

Natural Gas Line From Texas To New York To Surpass "Big Inch"

IN DOLINGTON AREA

There is to pass through Bucks County the world's largest pipeline, designed to carry natural gas from Texas to New York, according to an announcement just made public.

The pipeline, surpassing in size
even the "Big Inch," measuring 30 inches in diameter, will extend from the Lower Rio Grande, near the Mexican border, to New York City.
Surveyors are mapping out the pipeline route through Chester County at the present time, and are studying several proposed routes in Montgomery and Bucks counties.

Tentative plans call for the pipeline's crossing the Schuylkill River at a point either at Jeffersonville or Norristown.

The line will cross Bucks county, it is planned, along practically the same route of an old line now crossing the county over the Newtown township, Dolington area. The new line will cross Indian Council Rock Farm of Mrs. George F. Tyler, near Newtown.

Surveyors working on the assignment state that practically no opposition has been found against the new natural gas line.

Fish Constructors, Inc., with offices in West Chester, is building the line for the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp., which will operate it as a common carrier and therefore hold right of eminent domain, with the power to institute condemnation proceedings.

GIVEAWAY FADEAWAY

Experts who keep their fingers on the pulse of radio audiences—and that means you and us—are intimating that the giveaway craze is on the decline. One of the important signs is the fact that "Stop the Music" has fallen to sixty-sixth position in popularity according to the latest Hooper rating which is generally accepted as the measurement for audience interest in the nation.

This time last year, before the FCC really came out with its ultimatum on giveaways, "Stop the Music" ranked forty-fourth in the Hooper measurement of interest. Another giveaway, "Hollywood Calling," is 104th in popularity, which is pretty far down on the Hooper parade.

Such jesters as Jack Benny still hold their top ratings. All they give away is fun and entertainment—for those who want fun and entertainment on the corny side. A lot of people do, apparently. Jack is No. 2 man on the Hooper chart.

There are various reasons for the decline of interest in the fabulous giveaways. It could be that the public is impressed with the reports that it is not only difficult to handle a jackpot but that the jackpot is more trouble than it's worth. There have also been charges that not all the giveaway prizes are actually delivered. Hooper is correct—raises the hope that radio moronia as a whole may be on the decline. Perhaps it is not too much to hope that in time soap operas, singing commercials, Drew Pearson and Walter Winchell will be replaced by radio fare that appeals to listeners whose I. Q. is higher than zero.

BEAUTY VS. DANGER

There's beauty in the autumnal dress of the leaves but there's also danger when the leaves fall on highways and streets.

Poets write sonnets and trios; poets about the riot of color among the oaks and maples, but policemen also write accident reports when cars skid on those same leaves.

Photographers use up reels of film capturing the color of leaves on pavements—but insurance investigators take pictures of accidents that occurred on those same leaf-covered pavements.

In other words, be careful. A street of wet autumn leaves can be as dangerous as a street glazed with ice.

A medal for understatement should be awarded to Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, who says the American people are bored by taxes.

According to President Truman the little man is the backbone of the country. And the arms and legs.

Several members of Congress have returned from foreign lands to tell the American populace of true conditions there. What would be more to the point would be information on what goes on at home.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Nationalization Ahead

Washington, Nov. 9.

REFLECTION upon the cause, conduct and results of the great strikes—in steel, coal and aluminum—which have decreased industrial production by an estimated twenty per cent, caused widespread unemployment and generally menaced the economic welfare of the nation, ought to make several basic things about the labor-management situation clearer than before.

ONE is that no matter how right it may be, industry no longer can hope to win in any controversy with the big unions. The merits are immaterial so far as the outcome is concerned. They may all be on the side of industry, but the best industry can expect is a compromise by which most of the union demands are conceded. That has been demonstrated so often that there seems no room for argument. There is one overwhelming reason for this state of affairs. It can be summed up briefly—in every big strike the Government is found on the union side. This has been true since 1936, when the late Mr. Roosevelt made his political alliance with the newly formed CIO and lent his name, weight and White House prestige to its membership drives. Under Mr. Truman the political ties between his Administration and the labor bosses—particularly the CIO —have been extended until any pretense of presidential neutrality is ridiculous.

THE CIO bosses were frequently at the White House before the current strike started and CIO publications hailed the appointment of Mr. Truman's "Fact Finding Board" as due to such conferences. The attitude of the Truman Cabinet members and political aides was openly pro-union from the start. With the steel strike in progress, Mr. Truman, a number of times denounced "the selfish interests," which is one of Mr. Murray's milder names for the steel companies. The President's final use of this phrase was in his eulogistic message to the CIO's convention the day before the Bethlehem capitulation. Also, he and Mr. Murray publicly joined hands in support of Governor Lehman for senator and Mr. O'Dwyer for mayor in New York. Their personal and political intimacy could hardly have been more convincingly attested. There is nothing new about this. Ever since the New Deal political strategy was made clear twelve years ago, the Democratic leadership has been operating along those lines. Today the White House more strongly than ever supports the labor bosses in their fight to prevent any legislation designed to diminish their power to strangle the nation. In return, the labor bosses support both the President's foreign and domestic program. If there is a single issue upon which they diverge, it has not been presented.

FEW detached persons will deny that this combination damages the national interests. With such a combination the cards are definitely stacked against industry. When the labor unions strike they are certain to get at least half what they demand. The best industry possibly can do is to compromise. The alternative is Government seizure, adverse public sentiment and eventual settlement favorable to the unions. Naturally, they compromise. What else is there for them to do? You can't combat the United States Government. What then is the situation? The compromise having added to the cost of production, the industry, in order to stay in business, must increase the price of its product. Just as inevitably the labor bosses come back next year or the year after with more demands for more money. The whole performance is repeated. Labor indicts the "selfish interests," the White House supports the labor bosses; the strike is called; the country is flooded with propaganda; the White House throws its weight on the labor side, the companies compromise.

WHO is the gainer? Clearly, the companies can't gain because the cost of production forced on them always offsets the increased price of the product. Clearly, the net gain to the workers is offset by the loss of wages during the strike and by the increased cost of living resulting from the "compromise." This is inflationary in its direction, increasing the cost of living to the people generally. Such a situation constitutes an irresistible temptation to the labor bosses (whose salaries and expense accounts are not affected by the strikes) to strike at almost regular intervals.

WHEN the current strikes are all

If Child Gets Bad Report In Character, Citizenship

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
 SUPPOSE that on your child's first report card there are statements indicating that he has ranked low in one or more traits of character and citizenship. There may be statements about his habits of work, how well or poorly he pays attention in the classroom or cooperates with the teacher and other children there. On it may be some such statements as these: "Daydreams," "Dawdles, doesn't finish his work," "Has poor habits of work," "Disturbs the other children at their work," "Doesn't get along well with other children on the playground."

As you read such statements you may be very much vexed and right away you may proceed to tell your child that he must be better. You must always pay attention at school, that he must behave himself and never bother other children or disobey his teacher; that he must work hard and always finish his work on time and try to get on well with other children on the playground; that you don't want to get any more reports like this. After you have got all this off your chest you probably feel quite important and assume that these commands of yours should settle all such matters permanently.

Don't Commit Follies
 But if you will only use a bit of sense, you won't commit such follies as the foregoing. You will know very well that you can't hope to change your child's ways at school by such procedures. You will know that all these items of character and behavior at school lead back to earlier years and had been growing for a long, long while and that, therefore, they can't be changed quickly or merely by your commands. (My bulletin, "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School" may be had in a stamped envelope).

Yet we must not be too hard on you. You have tried eagerly to help your child in the directions he has been reported lagging. You also want to cooperate with the school. You probably supposed that the teacher expected you to do just as you have done so unwisely.

A Warning
 If the teacher had been wise she would not have sent you such a report without being pretty sure you would not do as you have done, or without writing a note warning you against such or having a conference with you to show you how to work on these traits and habits in the child day by day in scores of situations at home, over weeks and months with the hope of seeing them improve slowly and gradually. There are some great teachers who do show parents in simple concrete ways how they can at home gradually improve the child's behavior and character traits at school.

Over the nation has spread a chief or sole emphasis in reports to parents on traits of character and citizenship. The objective is wonderful. But this new report card has not usually done what theorists supposed it would accomplish.

Hard as it might be for a teacher to show the parent how to help the child who lags in reading, spelling or arithmetic it is much more difficult for this teacher to show the parent how at home to improve the child's concentration, industry, cooperation and other character and citizenship traits at school. Yet the newer type of report card sets for the teacher this hard but worthy responsibility. Parents who believe they can also help the child improve find some aid in my home helps bulletins on reading, spelling and arithmetic (to be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper).

Suggests Economical, "Homey" Meal of Salt Pork, Cream Gravy

For an economical meal serve golden salt pork and good cream gravy, suggests Reba Staggs, home economist. There's a "homey" and appetizing touch about salt pork (which resembles bacon) that makes it a popular choice in many homes.

To prepare this combination, the salt pork may be baked or panfried. Either way, the pork is cut into 1/4-inch slices, covered with hot water and allowed to stand for about five minutes. The slices are then removed from the water, dipped in milk and rolled in corn meal.

For baking in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) the salt pork slices are placed on a rack in an open roasting pan and cooked for 30 to 35 minutes. The rack holds the drippings so that it is not necessary to turn during the cooking time.

In pan-frying, the coated slices should be slowly cooked in hot lard or drippings until they are richly browned and completely cooked. Whether baked or fried, the gravy is made with equal portions of the pork drippings and flour (1/4 cup each). Stir flour into the drippings and add two cups of milk gradually, cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, then boil for two to three minutes.

Cooked salt pork also lends flavor to such vegetables as green beans, potatoes, egg plant, acorn squash or whole kernel corn.

In Science News Letter one reads that at some future time foods may be developed from seaweed, algae, yeast and wood. From the character of some high-priced restaurant meals encountered on a recent trip, I am convinced that such food already is a production.

When a person is picked for mention in this department it is not intended to confer merit upon the chosen character. Rather it is to keep fresh in the minds of readers the fact of eminence long established.

Thus it is not necessary to review the fascinating biography of Herbert Hoover, who first was known as one of the greatest of world-traveling engineers. We need not detail his marvellously efficient relief work in Europe of World War I and thereafter, or the often forgotten accomplishments of his administration as the Nation's 31st President.

But the sum of these things revealed him as a man of widest humanitarian principles and with the logical and truly great mind to apply them for world good. Subsequently he further has shown in his powerful, common-sense appeal and fight for the maintenance of American principles, that he is one of the greatest statesmen the country ever has known. At this time of world confusion we are fortunate to have Herbert Hoover; there are far too few of his kind.

It's a joy to record a potential serious accident that didn't happen. In a certain rural district recently some children built a swell bottle-closet to a farm gasoline storage tank. A parent discovered the fire in time to prevent what might have occurred. Teach the children the danger of ever playing with fire, and keep them away from all containers of inflammable products.

Astronomers have discovered a small new asteroid. Since it is 8,000,000 miles from the earth and its discoverer says that "an asteroid has no practical value", it hardly seems a worthwhile topic for the ladies Wednesday study club.

On dumb-and-dangerous-drivers-list I place right at the top The utter reckless fools who at A stop-sign do not stop.

Statistics indicate that the ratio of males to females will decline by 1975. So far as the girls are concerned, this is assurance that the competitive system is not threatened, but will become stronger.

When the manufacturer of a device like a safety razor—is driven by competition to introduce a time-saving improvement, it must be a strain on the ad-man who must think up new speed-whizzing words such as zip, snap, whizz, pop, etc.

Strange, is it not, that the fellow who on the street or at the club can solve all national or world problems, so often has his personal affairs in such a deuce of a state?

Incomplete returns on the soldier bonus issue in Bristol indicated that it had carried here by a tremendous majority.

So also was the proposed amendment permitting bedridden or hospitalized veterans to cast absentee votes.

The other amendment, which would have authorized the State Legislature to exempt from taxes lands acquired for urban redevelopment, appeared to have lost in the balloting here.

Perfect weather and the great interest in the soldier-bonus issue, coupled with lively contests in the wards, combined to bring out a record vote of approximately 4800 ballots in the Borough.

Election workers were busy throughout the day, and few polling places had more than breathing spells during the parade of voters. The balloting was orderly, and no disturbances were reported.

Various veterans' groups supporting the bonus had sound trucks on the streets, as well as crews of workers making follow-up checks of those who had failed to appear at the polls.

Long after midnight, a motor caravan of war veterans and Democratic workers staged a victory parade through the Borough.

PARADES IN JAPAN

WITH THE EIGHTH U. S. ARMY IN TOKYO, JAPAN — Pvt. Francis J. Sanko, 301 Pine street, Bristol, Pa., participated in a parade held in honor of the newly appointed Chief of Staff, U. S. Army, General James L. Collins. The parade was held on the Imperial Plaza in front of the Japanese Emperors' Palace, here. Sanko attended the St. Mark's School, Bristol, before entering the service, January 3, 1949. He received his basic military training at Fort Pickett, Va., before being sent overseas to serve with the 1st Cavalry Division. He is presently assigned to Company F, 8th Cavalry Regiment (Infantry), Tokyo, Japan, after his arrival overseas in May, 1949.

HULMEVILLE

The Harmony Trumpeters will be on the program for "Sam' Illick Night," as will also Luigi and Richard Boecelli, vocalists. The program will start at eight p. m., Nov. 14th, in Neshaminy Methodist Church. On this occasion Mr. Illick, former burgess and councilman, who has been active in the community throughout most of his lifetime, will be honored by the townspeople.

G. Jay Anyon Is Dinner Speaker Here

In charge of the program, he said, "In line with our program of having speakers give us talks in labor management problems we have Mr. G. Jay Anyon, an instructor of business administration and industrial management at the University of Pennsylvania, with us tonight. Mr. Anyon will speak on 'The Functions of Foremen and Supervisors in Management Programs.'"

Mr. Anyon said: "When a foreman was a labor sub-contractor that was the time when he recruited his own men for the job, and that is the heritage some of them still carry with them. Today the foreman is in a different type of job. His is the front line of management and the front line is starting to come in on its own. Before management started to grow it was all right for the foreman to secure his own help but today management is becoming more and more separated from ownership and as a result of that it would not be good policy to rely on the foreman for recruiting labor.

"Foremen in many places do not consider themselves in management," Mr. Anyon declared. He said, "They are just as much a part of management as the general manager and should be considered as such. They are the front line of management. The foreman in many plants are on the receiving end of all the knowledge the specialists of the company have and should make use of it. If the foreman is trained to take advantage of this knowledge available to him it makes his job a lot simpler and makes better relations between foreman and high-ups."

"The final details of the plans to be carried out in any plant is in the lap of the foreman as he is the front line and deals with the men who produce. The main problem in management today is the non-training of foremen in most plants. Thus the problem is the lack of full knowledge as to what is happening as to what the real job the foreman has to do."

In closing, Mr. Anyon said: "A foreman is a member of management and must be capable of some planning, direction, control and should be especially able to handle men."

Things That Men Don't Like About Women's Appearance

Courtesy Fragrance Foundation

One thing many men object to is a woman who uses too much perfume. A subtle scent is all right, they agree, but an overpowering one is in bad taste.

By HELEN FOLLETT

YOUR good looks reporter has been asking members of the stern sex what they particularly do not like about feminine appearance and just what elements of beauty appeals to them most.

A college boy of nineteen says with much emphasis that he thinks every girl should have short curly hair, that when a young woman wads up her wool into knots on the top of her head she looks like something that should be filed away in the old family photograph album. "There is something nice and casual about the short crop," he said. "You don't visualize a girl standing in front of the mirror for an hour building a skyscraper."

Claw-Like Nails

A middle aged husband says that his pet peeve has to do with long, claw-like finger nails. He claims they look murderous and caty. He has never liked bright red nail polish and never will but that does not mean anything in his family. On his beloved wife's hands are ten glowing stop lights. She says she likes to discipline him!

The male of the species is still protesting against excess make-up and he does not consider it a joy or a privilege to see his best girl give herself a complexion and lip touch-up after he has blown her to dinner. He thinks she should retire to make herself a new face.

Interesting Remark

An elderly man made an interesting remark. He says that there aren't any young girls any more, just women and children. It seems he has learned that the lipstick privilege belongs to the girl of fourteen and, when the ruby veneer goes on, he says that girlhood is disguised, if it has not completely evaporated and the sweet young thing looks like a grown woman.

On the subject of perfume there seems to be pretty much of an agreement. If it is sweet and subtle it is all right. If it whams you on the nose, away with it; the healthy smell of soap and water is better than an overpowering aroma.

committee that the construction of the new pump house is almost completed, and that the rebuilding of a short stretch of sewer on Park avenue has also been completed. The extension on West Broad street to the borough limits will be started next week.

Several building permits, one for the construction of a dwelling house, were granted.

Largest Pipe-Line To Pass Thru Bucks

ery and Bucks counties, the main line probably will cross the Delaware River near Yardley, and continue on to New York.

The line will enter Chester county at Cristiana and proceed East-Northeast at a diverging angle from the Lincoln Highway. After passing through Atglen, it will skirt North of Parkesburg, Sadsburyville and Coatesville, above Downingtown, and over Route 29, passing South of Bracton. A sharp turn North will carry it between Cedar Hollow and Devault, where it will return to its original direction toward the Schuylkill River.

Two lateral lines, one to Potttown and the other to Marcus Hook and Camden, will leave the main pipe in the central section of Chester county. Work on the Chester county section is scheduled to begin in the spring.

When the work in Montgomery and Bucks counties will get underway is not definitely ascertained.

Kabob Ideas

For something different to serve at dinner, here are clever kabob suggestions. Thread on wooden or metal skewers cubes of lamb alternating with tomato and onion slices; frankfurters cut in fourths and alternated with pearl onions and bacon strip; pineapple chunks and ham cubes or liver squares, mushrooms and bacon. Brush kabobs with melted butter or margarine and place on broiler rack adjusted so that they will cook at a moderate temperature.

Many a big deal has been made possible through a small want ad.

heaved one after another at the floor, the ceiling, the back bar, the bar, tables and chairs and wherever he could aim them."

Reporting that the wheat and corn crop over the entire United States is lower than it was last year, Joseph D. Parry, chairman of the agricultural committee, at a meeting of the Pineville Grange, at Wrightstown, Friday evening, said it was due to the dry weather.

Chairman Parry, who also gave a talk on fast milking, related how one man, who has charge of 240 cows, milks them in four hours twice a day. He presented examples of "fast milking and time saving processes". A visit to the cranberry bogs in New Jersey was described.

Chairman of the legislative committee, Franklin Washburn, reported how Congress has "gone home without passing down any of the money bills". He commented on the waste of Government spending in connection with the adjourning of Congress.
Frederick Hammett spoke of the importance of voting.
The grange milk fund, which provides milk for undernourished children in Europe, was discussed.

SERGEANT PAT OF RADIO PATROL By EDDIE SULLIVAN and CHARLIE SCHMIDT

HERE'S THAT GUY COMIN' BACK AGAIN, JOE! I DON'T THINK HE KNOWS WHERE HE'S GOIN'.
"THE GUNNER" DESCENDS THE HILL AS THE TRAILER TRUCK IS STILL LABORING UP THE LONG INCLINE.
SLOWING DOWN THE CAR, HE LEAPS TO THE GROUND AS HE COMES ABOARD OF THE TRAILER.
HE SWINGS HIMSELF OVER THE TAIL-BOARD OF THE TRUCK WHILE HIS CAR CONTINUES ON.
I SUPPOSE WE'D BETTER STOP HIM AN FIND OUT IF HE'S SEEN ANYTHING.
OH, SURE... WE GOTTA STOP EVERYTHING.
WE'RE LOOKIN' FOR AN ESCAPED CONVICT. HAVE YOU SEEN A GREEN JUPITER SEDAN ON THE ROAD?
YEH, SURE. JUST A FEW MINUTES AGO!
HE PASSED US ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE HILL, HEADED THIS WAY. AN' THEN HE COMES BACK AN' PASSES US THE OTHER WAY. HE MUSTA SEEN YOUR ROAD BLOCK.
HEY, THE GUARD RAIL IS OUT AT THE CURVE!
HEY, GUS / THESE GUYS SAW THAT CAR GOING OVER THE HILL / GET AFTER IT / I'LL RADIO HEADQUARTERS AND FOLLOW YOU!

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. George E. Boswell
Rector
St. James P. E. Church

Blessed Lord and Father, whose joy rests in our living righteous lives, draw near unto us every passing moment; guide and direct us in all our doings, and grant that we may be effective witnesses for Thee and guide-posts for others. In Christ's name we ask it. Amen.

street, is confined to her home due to illness.

CHILD'S ACTIVITY IS GOOD SIGN OF HEALTH CONDITION

By Miss Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

Parents should be pleased if their child is an active one. Activity on the part of a child is natural and normal. If a child is inactive, listless, and given to day dreaming, he is not well and parents should look for the causes and correct them.

The less active child is not so annoying or troublesome to his parents as the healthy normal child which may lead parents to think they are lucky to have such a "good" child. However, they should bear in mind that a healthy child is normally active when awake.

Directing the bubbling activity of children is one of the toughest jobs parents have, but it is also one of the most interesting. Parents must use their ingenuity and plan ahead. When this is done, many disturbing incidents can be prevented.

Too often parents are guilty of punishing their child for undesirable activities. It would help these parents to ask themselves "what would interest my child and at the same time be good for him to do?"

Parents must expect both noise and mess which often go with active play. If parents always scold and reprimand their children for noise and mess, conflict instead of harmony will reign. When this happens, children soon may be convinced that they are innately "bad" when actually they are only doing what it is their natural impulse to do.

Provide a place where the children can play without disturbing adults. This may be an attic, porch, or outside building. A light and dry basement also would serve the purpose.

NOT ONLY RELIEVES BUT 'LOOSENS UP' BAD COUGHS

(CAUSED BY COLDS)
Russum has been prescribed by thousands of Doctors. It not only relieves such coughing but also loosens up phlegm and makes it easier to raise. Russum is safe and mighty effective for both old and young. Pleasant tasting, too. Inexpensive.

SPORT NOTES

St. Ann's A. A. was honored at a baseball banquet held in Trenton, Saturday night, the "Saints" were given a large trophy for winning the regular season championship of the Trenton Industrial League.

Anthony "Rabbit" Palumbo was given an individual trophy for winning base-stealing honors. Palumbo stole 16 sacks.

Bert Barbetta was first in runs batted in with 57. He was also awarded a trophy. Bert missed out in the batting championship and also home run honors. Bert had five home runs, most of them on Memorial field. The winner had eight home runs, most of them made on Wetzell field where there is a short right field.

There is a youngster by the name of John Greenlee going to Bristol High this year. Watch this boy during the track season. He will prove to be one of the best millers that Bristol has ever had.

"Bill" Condit took a terrific beating in the Bristol High-Burlington game. After every pass he threw, Condit was spilled to the ground by two or three Burlington players. At times, he did not have a chance to get his passes off.

Tom Profy, St. Ann's guard, is a real veteran. Profy has been playing football for 17 years, missing two years while he was in military service. Tom feels as if he has three or four years of football in him and to watch him play you would know for he is just as spry as some of the youthful players.

Bucks this Saturday. The co-champions of last season have a score to settle with one another. Maybe the 1948 championship will be decided with this game. At least, that will be the fans' version but we hope for better weather than last year when there was a driving rainstorm most of the game.

The coaching staff of the St. Ann's A. A. gridsters are giving quite a pat on the back to the tackles of this season's squad. The coaches feel that quite a bit of the success of the team is due to the fine work both offensively and defensively of the tackles. Head Coach Bornice feels that this season's tackles are the best since the days of "Socks" Seneca and Poe Potena.

Booking manager, Anthony Angelo, has announced that the St. Ann's team will play the Norristown Red Roses, Sunday, on Memorial Park field. The "Saints" will be seeking to avenge a 7-6 licking given them last season by the Roses.

ONE OF THE MOST MODERN MARKETS TO OPEN IN COUNTY

Safe Food Markets, Inc., Builds Ultra Modern Food Emporium

LOCATION, CROYDON

Items Will Be Displayed Attractively For Examination By Customers

The doors will be thrown open Thursday, November 10th, on what is perhaps one of the most modern markets in Bucks County, and those who pass through will be confronted with an array of groceries, meats, produce, drugs, candy and bakery products which baffle description. This ultra modern food emporium of the Safe Food Market, Inc., is located on Bristol Pike, Route 13, just west of the Pennsylvania Railroad passenger station at Croydon. Here one finds displayed practically every conceivable article likely to be found in such a market. They are displayed in such a way as to be readily available for examination by the prospective purchaser. And the price tags are readily visible.

The opening of this market by Safe Food marks an epoch in the history of this retail food distributing organization. It is the fourth store to be opened by the group and it is to be closely followed by a store at Penndel.

The Safe Food Market, Inc., after opening two stores in Philadelphia, invaded the Bucks County area. "We are more than pleased with our reception in this territory," says David Sklar, president. "We selected Bucks County for our expansion program because we think Bucks County is one of the most progressive sections in the United States. This territory is growing rapidly and indications are that there are great things in store for the future for this area."

The Safe Food Market at Croydon which opens Thursday is the last word in a retailer's food service.

NEW SAFE FOOD MARKET IS OF MOST MODERN DESIGN AND EQUIPMENT; AFFORDS PLEASANT SHOPPING

Interior Walls Are Attractively Decorated With Hand-Painted Murals—Merchandise Is Very Attractively Displayed—Every Comfort For The Shopper Has Been Provided

The new Super Market of the Safe Food Markets, Inc., which will be opened to the public Thursday, on the Bristol Pike, west of the Pennsylvania Railroad station at Croydon, will inaugurate in this area the ultra-modern merchandising of foodstuffs. This building, designed and erected with the idea of convenience for the shopper and their comfort, as well as efficiency, is a structure 110 feet long by 65 feet deep. It is one story in height and is built of two-tone brick veneer.

The entire front is of especially designed plate glass of the most modern type, the glass front measuring 100 feet across and 16 feet high. The building is heated by steam, with oil as the fuel, so that, at sudden drops of temperature, warm air will quickly flow throughout the interior.

The comfort of the shopping public is also provided for in summer time, as the latest in air-conditioning equipment has been installed. Natural light will stream through the glass front and be reflected from the ceiling 16 feet high. With a ceiling of this height, there will be no stuffiness or "dead" spots in the atmosphere.

The very latest in stream-lined lighting fixtures will diffuse a soft, but brilliant glow into every nook and corner of this big establishment. All merchandise will be readily discernible and the customer will have no difficulty whatever in selecting just the merchandise which is desired. The asphalt tile floor will tend to quietness.

Another of the many innovations, which the architect planned for this shopping emporium, and one which is not often found in such establishments, is the exceptionally wide aisles between the gondolas on which are displayed a wide variety of foodstuffs. These six-foot-wide aisles between the 20 gondolas, which are 26 feet long, permit of the display of products, so as to make it easy for the shopper in moving about, as one tours from aisle to aisle in search of that which is sought. The gondolas and the display of merchandise have been so arranged that the smallest child can readily select any article.

Five of the very latest and newest models in checking booths have been installed, one being designated as an "express booth," where customers purchasing five or less items, can be checked out instantly.

The walls have been artistically decorated and will arrest the eye as one gazes upon the six panels of murals. The walls are tinted a soft pink, called "lady pink." Each of the six murals, 4 1/2 by 10 feet, were painted directly upon the wall by Asher Basford, of Hulmeville. These murals depict six outstanding lines of merchandise carried by the Safe Food Markets.

One shows "Hygrade" bakery products, one "Yankee Maid" frankfurters, a third "Sheffield" beverages, a fourth the products of "Fischer Baking Company," the fifth the dairy products of the "Borden Company," while the sixth portrays an array of meat products handled by the Safe Food Markets.

This Safe Food self-service Super Market represents an investment of $125,000 in building and equipment alone. Every convenience for the shopper has been anticipated and the shopper's welfare has been paramount throughout in the design of the market, the fixtures installed and the grade of the merchandise handled.

TWO OF SAFE FOOD MARKETS' OLDEST CUSTOMERS--MR. AND MRS. SWARTZ, HATBORO, PA.

Says Dave Sklar, president of Safe Food Markets:

"For many years I always felt that satisfying others, as I would like to be satisfied myself, is a very good way to make friends and customers. By that, I mean selling the best foods; foods people are familiar with as far as quality and standard prices; placing each advertised item in front of the customer plainly priced, so it can be seen by everyone; quick courtesies, efficient service, the same prices to everyone, equal service to everyone."

"A proof of our policy is here: Mr. and Mrs. Swartz have been our customers for many, many years. They live about two miles from our Hatboro store and have never missed a single week." Mr. Swartz says, "During the trying days when food was hard to get and the doctor ordered certain foods for my wife and I, the Safe Food Market in Hatboro supplied me with everything I needed. And talk about butter! When you couldn't get it, Mr. Sklar saw to it that everyone entering their store got at least one pound of butter. And say, come to think of it, the price was 69c which was O.P.A. price."

"We have shopped elsewhere and in large super markets, but the quality and prices, I have found at the Safe are far superior and lower prices than elsewhere."

"My pay check is cashed with my purchase every week without a charge, regardless how large the check may be."

"Regardless where I live I shall always look for a Safe Food Market, they have treated me swell!"

HUGE PARKING LOT IS WELL LIGHTED

Directional Signs and Special Officer To Aid Visitors

LOT IS WELL MARKED

A huge parking area has been established in connection with the Croydon Safe Food Market, which will open its doors on Thursday, November 10th. It is stated by the managers of the Safe Food Markets that the parking lot cost $27,000 for surveying, grading and surfacing. It is a hard surface of amesite and was built by Jacob M. Weller, of Oakford. Directional signs, brilliantly illuminated, and discernible at a distance of a half-mile, have been erected. The parking lot extends around the entire building and it is stated that 500 cars can be comfortably accommodated. There are safety islands for the protection and convenience of the motorists. Parking will be prohibited directly in front of the market, this area being reserved for the discharge of customers from motor vehicles beneath the large canopy and for the customers' convenience in placing their purchases in their cars.

A special officer, Frank Seader, has been deputized by the Bucks County Court to officiate at the parking lot and in the store area. Seader will direct motor vehicles, give information and otherwise assist shoppers.

All trucks will load and unload at the rear of the establishment.

Market Strategically Located At Croydon

The Safe Food Market at Croydon is strategically located to be of easy access for thousands of people from all over the adjacent territory.

Improved highways for motorists lead directly to the market. Adequate and frequent bus transportation fans out over a wide area.

Thousands of residents are within walking distance, while the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad between New York and Washington is directly in back of the market and the Croydon passenger station is within walking distance.

MAIN OFFICES HERE

The main office of the Safe Food Markets will be located in the Croydon market and from this all business of the company will be directed and conducted. Officers of the company will have adequate quarters and modern office equipment will facilitate the handling of this rapidly expanding business.

IT WAS BIG JOB TO ORGANIZE BIG NEW MARKET

Location Was Selected First and Then Architect Was Consulted

BLUEPRINTS PREPARED

Jobbers and Suppliers Called In and Told of Stock Needed

It is a difficult thing to plan a market of the size and standard of the Safe Food Market at Croydon. A great amount of detail work is necessary, but the staff of the Safe Food Markets has proven itself equal to the task.

First the selection of a location, then the consultation with the architect and the endeavor to give him an outline of what was desired. Then the actual planning of the building. During this planning the thing uppermost in the minds of all concerned was the planning of a market wherein the customer could be catered with the utmost satisfaction. The interior of the building must be attractive, argued the owners. The merchandise for sale, must be displayed in such a manner that the customer would be able to locate what is wanted with the least effort possible. "We want the customer to be so delighted with our store and our merchandise, and the manner in which the wants of the public are satisfied, that our market will at once be given the reputation as the best in this area."

The architect then went to work and put on the blueprints his conception of what he thought the owners desired. From these drawings developed the Croydon Safe Food Market and the owners are delighted and are confident that the public reception of their efforts will be entirely satisfactory.

Once the structure itself was completed there then was the problem to procure a stock of merchandise of wide variety and accepted quality. It was decided that all merchandise must be fresh and of well known quality. Having the organization and the purchasing power, such as the Safe Food Markets has, wholesale distributors of foods were willing and anxious to co-operate. Great stores of food stuffs were shipped to Croydon and soon the shelves began to be burdened with shipment after shipment.

Meats in every conceivable variety and selection were left until the last.

Meat handlers were called in and "put on the spot" to give the Croydon Safe Food Market the choicest selection and cuts. "We want the best and don't you dare ship us anything but the best," plainly spoke the managers. The result was that the Croydon Market has received the finest in meats, both smoked and fresh. This meat will be cut to the satisfaction of the customer and its selection will be his own choice.

The latest methods as provided by science for the proper care of meats, will make the meat department, one of the most popular in lower Bucks County.

Meat cutters of wide experience and activated by a desire to please, will cater to patrons of this department.

Scarcity of Materials Delayed Market Opening

Like all big projects attempted during and since World War 2, great difficulty was experienced in obtaining the necessary materials used in the construction of the Croydon Safe Food market.

Ground was broken last June, but due to strikes and scarcity of the materials required, the completion of the building and the opening was considerably delayed, but when the doors are opened on Thursday, November 10th, it is believed that the public will readily agree that it was worth waiting for.

BRIGHT NEW LABELS ON FRESH FOODSTUFFS

Markets Were Searched For New Merchandise of Acceptable Quality

Sparkling new labels and bright new wrappers on the foods displayed upon the shelves and in the cases of the new Safe Food Market at Croydon will catch the eye of every individual who visits the market on the opening day, Thursday. These labels and wrappers testify to the freshness of the new merchandise with which the new store has been stocked.

Every shelf is loaded with well-known brands of food articles and the refrigerated cases where perishable foods are kept glisten with freshness. The temptation to buy will be great, not only because of the attractiveness of the store but due to the manner in which the displays are arranged.

The market is complete as a food market and every one of the 10 departments is a miniature store within itself.

Every conceivable article used for food has been stocked and plainly displayed. As one tours along the six-foot wide aisles, it will be a matter of great ease to select that for which one desires.

Newspaper production costs have increased 95 per cent in five years according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

GROUND-BREAKING CEREMONY

An event of vast importance to the residents of this and surrounding communities took place on Wednesday, June 1st, when Life Scout Calvin Morrison of Troop 69, Croydon, and Joan Anderson of Girl Scout Troop No. 7, Croydon, picked for their excellence in the scouting movement, joined David Sklar, president, Milton Richter, and Samuel Silbert, general manager of the Safe Food Markets, in breaking ground for the new super market they have built in Croydon and which will open on Thursday, November 10th.

The fullest co-operation has been promised by the Neibauer Bus Company in handling the anticipated crowds at the Croydon Safe Food Markets, which will open on Bristol Pike, near the Croydon P.R.R. station, on Thursday, November 10th.

The Neibauer buses will stop in front of the Safe Food Market, and extra buses will be available, if necessary, to provide transportation for those travelling over the regularly established routes of the bus company. Transportation from Croydon proper to the Safe Food Market will be frequent and rapid. A dispatcher will be at the market, when found necessary, to assign the extra buses to their routes.

These buses will load and unload at the front or main entrance of the market, where shoppers can step directly from the bus beneath a 12 foot wide canopy, extending the full width of the store front. This entrance will provide a safe and storm-protected entrance, despite the most inclement weather.

DAVE SKLAR
President of
Safe Food Markets

SKLAR ACHIEVES OBJECTIVES HE HAD MANY YEARS AGO

Dream Was To Open Modern, Up-to-The-Minute Market

ANOTHER IN CHAIN

Native of Philadelphia Is Termed A "Self-Made" Man

"Save with Safety" is a slogan which has become a by-word here since the establishment of stores of the Safe Food Market, Inc., in this area.

Starting out with the motto quoted above and every day living within its true meaning, the Safe Food Markets have grown and grown and are still growing. There are now four stores in the chain with immediate plans calling for the establishment of another — at Penndel.

The Safe Food Market started from scratch 12 years ago when David Sklar opened a market at 3547 Germantown avenue, Philadelphia. That venture was just a meat market. The next forward step was the establishment of a market at Hatboro complete with a super market. That was seven years ago. Three years ago the Bristol store was opened and now the one at Croydon with one at Penndel in the immediate future.

Sklar says that after the Penndel store is opened he plans to build a new market opposite the present one here in Bristol so as to be better able to care for his rapidly expanding business.

The expansion program "will cost us a quarter of a million dollars," says Sklar. "When we started we did a weekly business of approximately $350 in the Philadelphia store and now the sales in our chain total over a million and a half dollars annually."

Volume of purchases and quick and large sales are the accepted way with Safe Food Market. Complete food stocks are carried and our stores were stocked with fresh meats and provisions and groceries from the very first. "We never bought anyone out," comments Sklar, the president.

Mr. Sklar says the success of the Safe Food Markets to a great extent is due to dealings with their customers during the war. It was our policy in those days to treat all customers fairly and with equality. We kept our prices down when others were raising theirs. We gave each customer his or her proportionate share of rationed articles and we never charged more than OPA prices. Now this policy is paying us back.

GLEAMING NEW FIXTURES AND SPARKLING NEW MERCHANDISE ARREST THE EYE AS ONE ENTERS NEW MARKET

All Attendants Garbed In White and Especially Trained For Customers' Reception—Refrigerated Care of Perishable Foods

Gleaming new fixtures, sparkling new merchandise, spotlessly garbed attendants, will make the Croydon Safe Food Market one of the outstanding shopping centers in lower Bucks County and the adjacent area.

All attendants will wear all white apparel, consisting of shirts and coats supplied by the firm. They have been selected and trained for their personality, courtesy and general willingness to assist those who might desire to purchase in this biggest and most modern food market in this area. There will be 15 clerks.

All food stuffs, which require refrigeration, and are perishable, will be handled in accordance with the most modern science pertaining to refrigerated food. There are 105 feet of service refrigerated display cases.

Three refrigerated boxes have been installed and the temperatures will be automatically controlled in accordance with the latest scientific methods of preserving foodstuffs. The three boxes have a capacity of 30 tons of food. There is a deep freeze walk-in box, where all the contents, such as meat, frozen food and ice cream will be kept at a below freezing temperature. Upon receipt, such foods will be placed in a cooling box and then when required will be removed to the deep freeze. A walk-in produce box, kept at a low temperature by electricity, measures 12 by 16 feet.

In the meat department, the customer can see the meat to be selected and can have it cut in any size or manner desired.

MILTON RICHTER
Secretary-Treasurer
Safe Food Markets

When he went in search of a buyer for his grocery department, David Sklar, president of Safe Food Market, Inc., was attracted to Milton Richter. Here was a man who for 20 years had been engaged in the grocery trade and had demonstrated beyond any doubt that he knew the business. "I wanted a man who knew how to buy and when to buy so that we could give our patrons big savings because we had bought wisely," says Sklar. "I thought that Richter was the man and I was more than pleased when he consented to join our organization."

Richter is now secretary and treasurer of the Safe Food Market. He gave up his own business to affiliate first with Food Fair and then with Safe Food Market. He has been with this latter organization for three years and he buys all of the groceries for the chain, which in itself is a big business. Richter is secretary and treasurer of the Safe Food. He is married and is 38 years old and the father of three children.

ESTABLISH HOURS

The Croydon Safe Food Market will be operated at regularly established hours. The market will open every week-day at 9 a. m. and close at 6 p. m., with the exception of Thursday and Friday evenings, when the closing hour will be nine o'clock.

The Atlantic blue crab carries as many as 1,750,000 eggs at one time, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

M. RICHTER HAS BUYING EXPERIENCE OF TWENTY YEARS

Chosen By Sklar As Buyer For Safe Food Markets, Inc.

IS NOW SECY.-TREAS.

Has Been With Local Organization For Past Three Years

Another forward step is about to be taken by the Safe Food Market and that is the establishment of delivery service.

With the establishment of the Croydon Safe Food Market the public will find that the drug department, the bakery section and the candy division are all operated in the same store as the grocery and meat business. Previously these have been operated separately by other individuals.

The conduct of a business of the size of Safe Food Market calls for an organization, the members of which know their business and who are constantly on their toes, keeping in close touch with the market prices.

Benjamin Weiss, Philadelphia, looks after the buying of produce and he came to Safe Food with wide knowledge and experience. For a time he was associated with Giant Tiger markets but now has been with Safe Food for seven years.

Milton Richter, buyer of groceries, has a background of 20 years of experience in the grocery business and he is well informed upon this phase of the business.

With an experience of 27 years in the meat business Sklar acts as the meat purchasing agent for the Safe Food Markets. He knows meats, the prices of them and their quality. The wholesalers also know when there is a break they naturally favor him.

PROTECTED BY MODERN ALARM

The Croydon Safe Food market has been equipped with a modern burglar alarm system which will sound immediately upon anyone attempting to force an entrance into the building. This system is exceedingly sensitive and the alarm itself can be heard at a great distance.

Dear Mr. Sklar:

It is with the greatest of pleasure that Local 196, Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, AFL, extends you the heartiest and most sincere congratulations upon the opening of your newest, beautiful store.

Our members' best wishes for its success arise not out of selfish interest as employees but, because the prosperity of America is dependent upon the growth and extension of such progressive enterprises.

In our association with you we have learned of and come to admire the liberal management policies that truly regard labor and consumer as partners in a mutual undertaking that must serve the community to achieve success.

Were your example to be followed by those industrial giants whose difficulties so recurrently threaten our national economy, our entire country would benefit.
